Overview
The Post-graduate Experiential Program (PEP) is designed for graduating Master’s Degree students, post-graduates and recently confirmed PhD’s. Participants are involved in high-level, high-visibility projects relevant to their academic area of study/degree and background.

Project Areas
Projects are associated with a variety of functions including any of the following areas: strategic initiatives, data analytics, engineering, organizational development, operations analysis and process design, capital projects, information technology, long-range investment planning, economic cost-benefit analysis, in-depth project management and other areas as projects develop. Assignments may be inter/intradepartmental and require cross-training in alignment with the assigned project.

Project Duration:  Project duration will be one year

Pay rate: Masters/PhD: $24 per hour

Applicant Eligibility Requirements
1. A Masters Degree or a PhD (waiting confirmation/recently conferred) and be within three (3) months of graduation and no later than 12 months post-graduation/confirmation at the time of applying.
2. Must meet the project qualifications including the area of study/degree and be available to work 28 hours maximum between the hours of 7AM to 6PM, Monday through Friday and available for the project duration of one year.
3. A cover letter, resume and an unofficial transcript must be emailed when applying. If selected, an official transcript or proof of academic eligibility will be required prior to appointment.
4. All applicants must be authorized to work in the United States at the time of application. NYC Transit cannot sponsor H1-B applications for permanent citizenship.

How to Apply:
- Click here to review the available projects: OP-100

- Email resume and copy of an unofficial transcript to: PEP@nyct.com. Please include the acronym PEP and the Project Number in the subject line.